

THE e7 PROGRAMME

The e7 pilot

The free of charge 1:1 iPad trial

Kris
Head of education

Our free e7 pilot gives you the opportunity to try out iPad within your school, to help get support from parents, teachers and governors prior to a school-wide 1:1 programme.

As well as access to over £10,000 worth of equipment for a term, you get trusted support and guidance from our regional e7 team, hands-on experience with iPad, a free network and infrastructure review, and exclusive discounted pricing on your loaned kit at the end of the pilot.

Why should my school take part?

- iPad is without doubt the leading tablet device being used in education. Currently, according to Apple CEO Tim Cook, they make up around 94% of tablets in schools, and there's one main reason for that: they improve results.
- As well as catering to different learning styles (with literally millions of apps, integrated accessibility features, and resources available, there's something for everyone!) they're an exciting and relatively new technology that engage students like never before, while promoting the school as a forward thinking institution.
- And although they might seem like an expensive investment, they don't have to be; when deployed on a 1:1 basis, there are many options available that make them incredibly cost-effective. The e7 pilot is a fantastic opportunity to get off the ground, and start on your iPad journey.

The e7 pilot at a glance

What is it? A free 1:1 pilot designed to help schools get the final proof of concept they need before rolling out iPad 1:1.

Who is it for? Schools who are ready to start working with iPad - see the checklist overleaf to find out if you qualify!

How much? It's completely free and there's no catch! The only thing we ask is that your school is seriously considering 1:1.

How does the e7 pilot work?

We provide you with over £10,000 worth of equipment for one full term! All you need to do is pick which students you want to take part in the pilot and set your learning objectives, and we'll supply up to 40 iPad (preloaded with learning apps, and ready to access your school's internet), cases, everything you need to connect to displays and projectors, and management software.

You'll also get:

- Dedicated support from the e7 team. Each of our e7 consultants only works with schools within a specific region of the country, so are never far away and can provide support throughout the scheme.
- Funding advice and guidance. Throughout the trial, we'll work with you to help you understand the funding options available when it comes to rolling out iPad on a large 1:1 basis.
- Free network and infrastructure review. In collaboration with your ICT team, we'll review your current infrastructure to make sure that it's ready for a full 1:1 deployment.
- Free launch day training session. Our in-house trainers will provide free of charge support and training for teaching staff on launch day.

“The kids could literally not wait because they’ve already seen iPad devices around the school. Andy from Jigsaw24 came down and we had all the tablets stacked up in a pile with a spotlight on them in the hall, and all the parents came in and [the pupils] couldn’t believe that they were actually taking these things away with them.”

Roger Hardy, Creative co-ordinator, Great Oaks School

Can I take part in the e7 pilot?

If you’re keen to roll out 1:1 but need a successful pilot to get your governors on board and overcome the final funding hurdle, this is for you – whether you have a few iPad in place already or are new to the technology. To take part, you must have:

- An SLT who intend to roll out iPad across the whole school, once the pilot scheme has been successful.
- A headteacher who is willing to be the main sponsor of the project.
- An e7 champion within the school staff who will promote the benefits of the scheme to pupils, teachers, parents and governors.
- The freedom to buy through your choice of suppliers.

And what happens at the end of the pilot?

If you’ve had a great experience with iPad, for most schools the next step will be a full 1:1 deployment to all students. As well as giving you the chance to purchase your loaned kit at exclusive discounted pricing, we’ll place you on the fast track to taking part in e7 1:1.
